

The Crown - Connection to Source

The color is white like an opal, the sound is Eee as in me. It represents your connection to your higher power. Here duality no longer exists. The right is to know, the shadow is attachment. The Crown's element is thought. This a a Spiritual center.

Complete immersion with Universe, Source, God, Higher Power, whatever you call that which is greater than you. This is called Samadhi in Sanskrit. In order to achieve the highest spiritual connection you must detach from everything and everybody. A very challenging achievement for us human/spirits.
